something soft. He looked and saw a leg clothed in overalls.

Help was summoned, and after some of the debris had been cleared away the body of Johnson was taken out. The Coroner found $48.60 in the dead man's pockets. Johnson was thirty-eight years old and lived at No. 661 East One Hundred and Thirty-sixth street.

After this body had been taken away, Smith, Walsh and Dunn began to search the hole from which it had been removed, and Smith again thought he saw a leg. He jumped into the hole and told the others there was another man there.

DR. GOFF'S DISCOVERY.

Dr. Goff, who lives across the way, at No. 52 West Forty-sixth street, was summoned, and he, too, jumped down into the hole and examined the man.

"Good God!" the physician suddenly remarked, "he's alive!"

Owing to the position of the body and the fact that a heavy iron girder held the man down by the leg and a great wooden beam lay across the body, it was impossible to take him out at once.

Dr. Goff worked over the man, being able to get at him fairly well, and was soon being assisted by Dr. Wilkes, who had been summoned from Flower Hospital. A crowd of workmen began to cautiously remove the iron and timbers, great care being taken to keep the mass from falling in on those who were helping the injured man.

WORKED TO KEEP HIM ALIVE.

Father Daniel A. Quinn, of St. Malachy's Roman Catholic Church, was on the spot and assisted in the work of rescue. While the debris was being removed from above, Drs. Goff and Wilkes administered whiskey and other injections to stimulate the heart and keep the spark of life

The man was unconscious, and the only sound that issued from his lips was an occasional groan.

After an hour's hard work "e rescuers were able to pull the man out at 3 o'clock, and he was hurriedly placed in the ambulance and started for Flower Hospital, being accompanied by both physicians and Father Quinn. On the way to the hospital the priest administered the last rites of the church, the man never regaining consciousness.

DIED AT HOSPITAL DOOR.

Just as he was about to be lifted from the ambulance to be carried into the hospital the last spark of life went out.

His scalp was torn, his legs and one arm were broken, but the physicians could find no injury from which a man could not ordinarily recover. Lasek was married and lived at No. 53 Avenue A.

Foreman Halpin, under arrest, had an interview with Coroner Scholes to-day, after which the Coroner said:

"I believe there are still nine or ten men buried under those ruins. Further than that, I believe that some of them are alive.

"For that reason I have placed a double force of men on the ruins to get at these imprisoned men.

The pockets in the clothing of Frank Allison, member of the firm owning and erecting the building, whose body was taken out last night, were searched this morning. Letters were found addressed to the Allison Company from the Building Department,

These letters ordered the company to cease building operations on the Darlington at once and setting forth the reasons that the building was not according to law, that the construction was faulty and exceedingly danger-

The letters were so drenched in the man's own blood that they had to be washed before they could be read.

WARRANTS OUT FOR SIX.

It is expected all three will be arrested to-day. Detectives sought them all day yesterday but could not find them. The offices and homes of both Pole and Schwandtner were watched, but both men were in consultation with their lawyer and could not be seen. It was said that he would advise them to surrender to-day.

In addition to the warrants issued for Allison, Schwandtner and Pole, three others have been issued by the Coroner for persons whose names are kept secret. It is said that one of these persons is the supervising architect of the building, employed by Neville & Bagg, the architects, and also by the Allison Company.

In order to determine just to what extent the contractors deviated from the architect's plans for the Hotel Darlington, District-Attorney Jerome, with his assistant, Mr. Train, and Harry-De Barr Parsons, an engineer and brother of William Barclay Parsons, Chief Engineer of the Subay, visited the ruins to-day. They had with them the original plans for the building, filed with the Building Department.

Mr. Parsons will make a close examination and report as an expert on what expedients, if any, the contractors resorted to in order to cheapen the

JORDAN DENIES A REPORT.

When President Ahearn read in yesterday's newspapers that John L.

Jordan, his Assistant Superintendent of Buildings, was alleged to have told the reporters that seventy-one buildings of the class of the Darlington were unsafe because of violations of the Building laws, he at once called on him for an explanation. Because She Refused to Elope with Him Nellie Flanigan Is Killed by Dominiok Autelie in Hallway of Her Home.

In a burst of lealous rage early to-day. Dominick Autelle, an Italian barber, shot and killed Nellie Flanigan, Brooklyn girl, only seventeen years old, in the hallway of ner cather's apartnent at No. 147 Fockaway avenue Sitting down on the lowest step of the fight he put the pistol to his left breast and sent a bullet through the upper part of his heart. He was removed to St. Mary's Hospital, conscious, but in a lying condition.

The girl's refusal to elope with Autelle or to have anything to do with alm as long as her father objected to als attentions was responsible for the ragedy. Autelle is only twenty years id. He is a handsome youth and about wo years ago he gave up barbering and took a position with the Williams-ourg News Company.

She Refused to Elope.

Autelle called last Sunday night and isked her to clope with him. She rebut would never marry him without her father's consent. She advised him to to see her alone. How he got in the known, but when the girl stepped out dowed them with a new lease of life.

"Neilie, I want you to clope with me, said Autelle.

"I cannot do it." said the girl. "I Without another word, the Italian pulled a pistol from his overcoat pocket and fired a shot at the girl. It entered her left breast and she fell to the floor Raising herself on her knees, she plead ed with the youth not to kill her. For answer he grabbed her by the throat, threw back her head, shoved the barrel again. The girl fell over dead. Autelle then ran down the stairs and at the bottom shot bimself. The three shots that were fired were heard by Policeman Coffey, of the Liberty avenue station, who was passing on a car He forced his way in the apartment and found Autelle lying in the hall. He and found Autelle lying in the hall. He asked him what he had done.

"Killed my sweetheart, said the Italian. "She is dead upstairs. She wouldn't marry me and I couldn't live without her."

Coffey ran out and got Dr. Stolworthy, who examined Miss Flanigan, and said she was dead. He then ordered Autelle taken to a hospital. The murder created a great deal of excitement in the neighborhood, where the girl was very well known and liked.
